CEDAR FALLS HIGH SCHOOL

(Paulette).

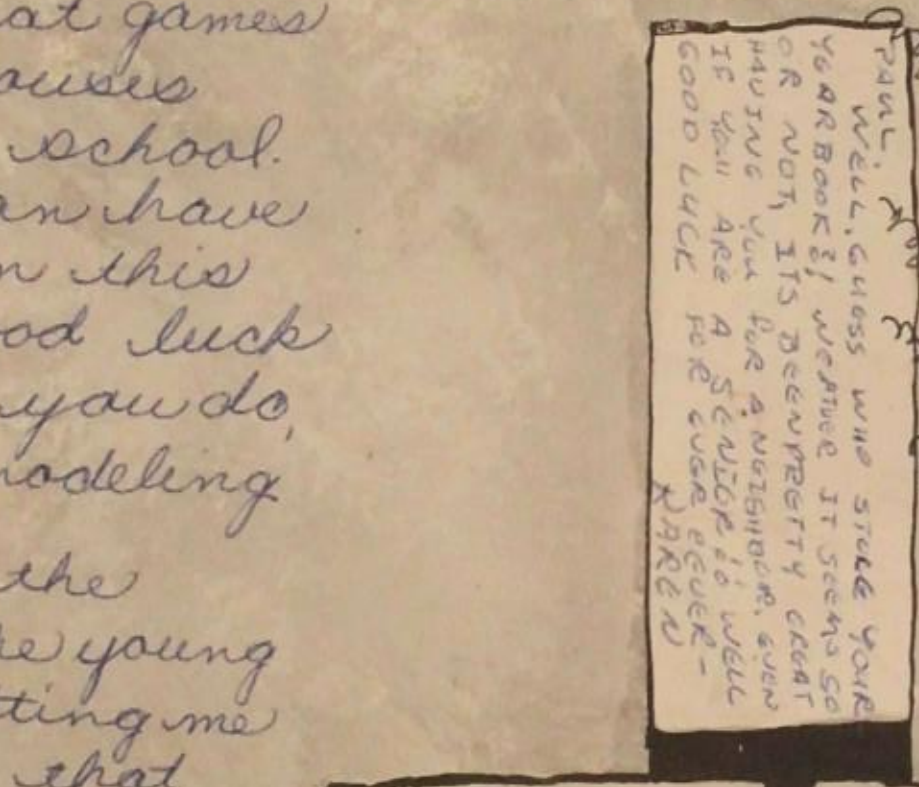
Well. Melvin were here, after a biology class like last years I didn't think I'd ever make it to my Sr. year. We've had a lot of fun at games and pizza houses and even at school. I hope we can have even more fun this year, and good luck in everything you do, with your modeling especially.

Your quite the competer for the young Iowan set, getting me into somethin that doesn't even have any obligations.

Good Luck
Paulette,

PETER

(Penny)



PAUL, WELL, GUESS WHO STOLE YOUR YEARBOOK?! WE'RE IT SEEMS SO OR NOT, IT'S BEEN PRETTY CRAZY HAVING YOU FOR A NEIGHBOR, EVEN IF YOU ARE A SENIOR & WELL GOOD LUCK EVER-PAREN

Paulette,
Mye gosh!
Here we are!
Create big SENIORS.
Remember that "e" staff?
Wive been friends for a long time and we really enjoyed having you as a friend.
Let's make 64-65 a great year!!
How 'bout it?
Best of Luck Always
Love ya,
marty

Remember:
Walton?
Nichols? (Lord!)

Remember the time I cut your hair? Course, how could you forget?

Paulette,
Well Charlie Brown - here we are big Seniors! (BY the way is your Sister P.G. yet?) We sure have had loads of fun together in the Past years. Remember our good olé Latin Class. OH - and that National Convention. (Poor K.U.) and then there is good olé Hambly. (Olive Oil) I could go on for ever - but I better not - But I do want to say I am glad I have gotten to know you cause you're a real sweet kid. Always stay the same and you will go far in this old world - Best of Luck in everything to a girl who really deserves it -

Love ya
Sandy

P.S. In 20 years when you look back

Paulette,
Well this is our last year. Then you won't have to suffer through me anymore. I still remember when you wanted to do my homework for me! Well I'll see you around. Don't forget me!
Love ya,
Larry

We have fun

Paulette,
Well, this is our last year. Then you won't have to suffer through me anymore. I still remember when you wanted to do my homework for me! Well I'll see you around. Don't forget me!
Love ya,
Larry

Melvin —

Boy, maybe you think we're seniors but I still don't believe it! One more year and we'll probably see each other only on weekends! But we'll still be "long-lost sisters!"

You ol' poup - this should be fairly easy for you but my year is going to be a bed of rocks - especially with the things that happened in the past few days! "J'ai appelé mon garson!" cause he's too hurt & mad to call me!

I sure wouldn't sing Happy Birthday to Coach Collinge - I didn't even clap!

I guess we've got a lot of different memories. To start the year off with a bang (that backfired!) was Steve and Dick - and all their friends. Remember running on "tennis court avenue" at 3:00 in the morning with heels, a man's hat and suitcoat?! Were we couth! Then we transferred to our own town boys - Larry, Gary, Kenny - what a mess! Good ol' Bob - the roommate. Boy, like Baker says, I was really ~~up~~ sucked up! Oh, well maybe we all learned something. Then we shifted to East High and two different groups! Lloyd's Boys and Goldsberg"s group. They're really quite a group and I don't think I'll ever understand them all! I guess Denny became quite a "personal friend" - him and his half - UU! What a ride! What a day! What a group! Say, how would you like a date with a -------- man?! Then comes the best part - Jerry and Company - stealing watermelons, the tunnel (!) Rabinson Crusoe Island, the cabin, the Barn Party! (Ah, that picnic the next day!) I know I'll NEVER be able to drink — coffee! I'm anxious to see what kind of grass that farm has next Spring! Well, who knows what's in store for this year? But it'll be wild or else I resign - dear Mrs. Koch is going to make nudists out of all of us! But not physically fit people! I wonder which would be more fun! I sure hope both of us get a job at HoJo's but it sure will hurt my fun times!

I hope "Project?" is fun this year but not too hard. That's asking a lot! This is our year, girl! And I intend to raise H---! You coming along?! But I don't have to ask that twice! See why - this is our last year for kid's days at Cattle Congress! Now, isn't that a real sign of growing up!! Seriously, you're my best girl buddy and I love ya, lots! I guess maybe I'll quit now!

Love ya,
Smitty

P.S. Miss million wants to talk to me tonight! Cute!

Prologue

A yearbook is different things to different people. To some, the yearbook is a publicity book; to others, it is a guide to the school and all its employees. To some, it is a catalogue of the curriculum; to others, a place where every member of each organization is pictured. To some, it is a directory of students; to others, it is a club book. A yearbook is, of course, all these things. But more importantly, a yearbook is a history book, pure and simply. This, then, is our history book: a permanent record of what we did; a history book about young history makers.

The Time Is 1964 and This Is Cedar Falls

By Way of Perspective . . .
How would one describe Cedar Falls, Iowa, and the world it is in, during 1964? One would surely have to mention the widening and paving of Main and Eighteenth Streets; the construction of a new sewage and power plant; the building and expansion of the Holiday Inn; the passing of bond issues for the remodeling and expansion of Sartori Hospital, and for the building of Holmes Junior High School. Or one might mention the construction of the new college library, or the construction of the new college administration building, or of the new Regents Hall complex.

Little things? Yes. But it is during the time these things were happening that we were in high school.

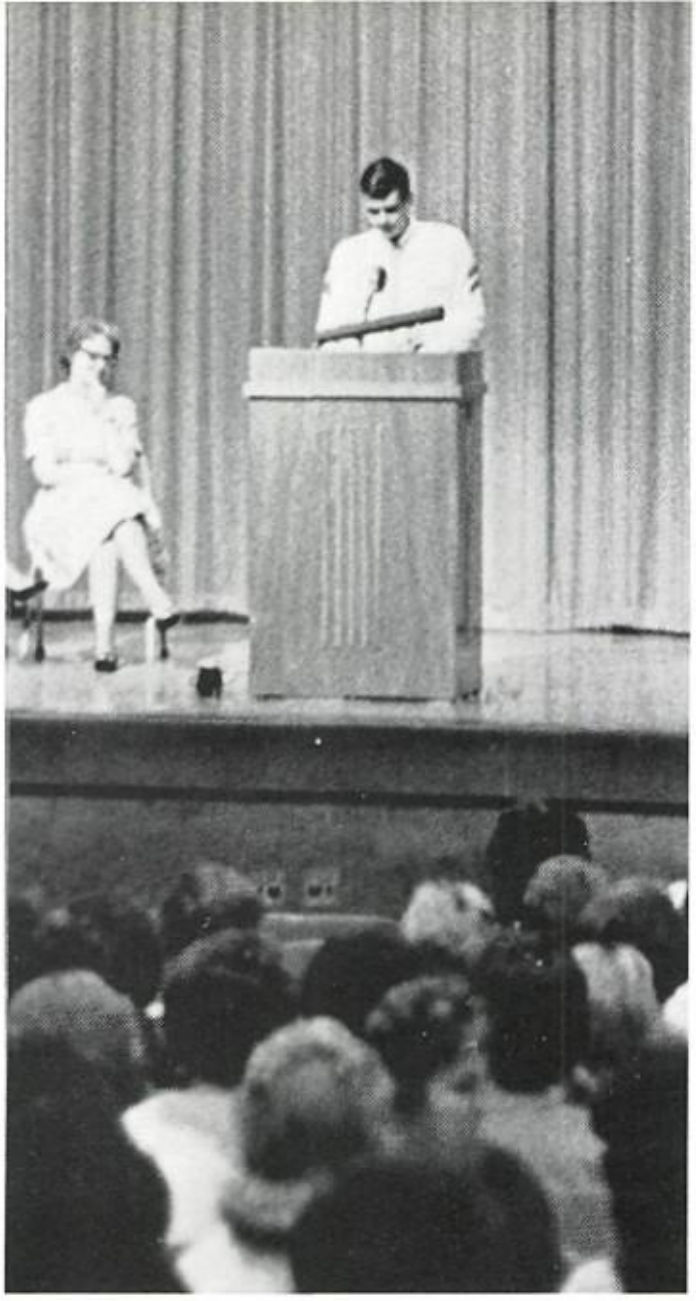
ACTIVITIES



Homecoming Spirit Is Reflected

The spirit for Homecoming 1963 was exemplified by the unity of the student body. This oneness in spirit was shown when decorating began on the 1963 theme, "Over the Rainbow." Every locker was soon striped in red and black. Hall ceilings were draped with streamers. A huge football player, sitting on a "pot of gold," watched over the south lobby as it was decorated in pastel colors. The halls became covered with posters and an East High Trojan was hung in effigy from the decorated light posts on the street. In the gym attention was concentrated on ceiling and wall decorations. Hundreds of multicolored strips of paper were fused into a wall; the final product was beautiful and startling. The many hours of time and patience spent by the entire student body resulted in spectacular decorations.

The car caravan and bonfire were two important features of Homecoming 1963. The traditional horn honking and hoarse shouting provided plenty of excitement so that few spirits were dampened by a brief, unexpected shower. As the caravan arrived at the bonfire, cars were abandoned for the warmth of the blazing fire. But as the evening wore on and the fire began to fade, the cheers turned into more quiet folks singing and the night grew more still.

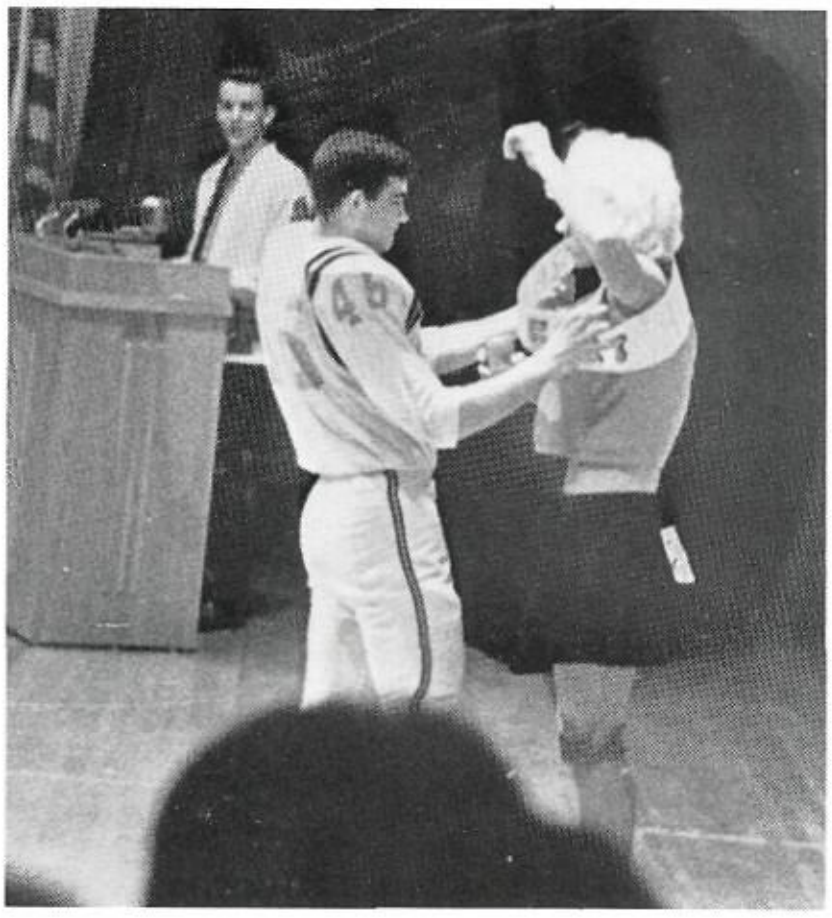
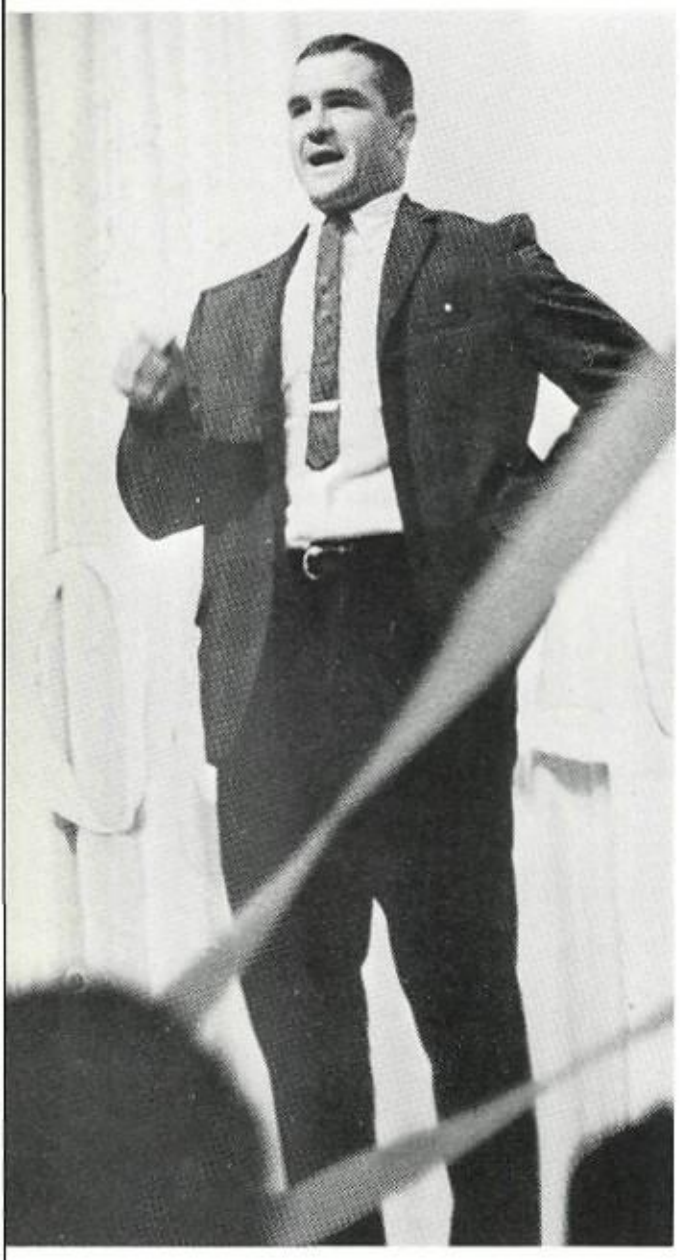
Crowning of Queen Georgene





The half-time ceremony was the high point of homecoming activities. As the band marched on to the field, Prince, the Bengal tiger, circled the field and brought cheers from the crowd. Following Prince came the queen candidates, radiant in the cool night air. Tension mounted as the candidates were escorted across the field to the music of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." The candidates stood before the crowd. The queen was announced. When Queen Georgene Gersema was crowned, there was a release of smiles and tears.

A highly successful dance was the final event of Homecoming. The affair was made perfect by fine music, beautiful decorations and a radiant queen. These things combined to leave the fondest memories of HOMECOMING 1963.

Junior Class Honors Seniors at

Words of senior class president David Johnson accurately reflected the sentiments of all seniors when he recited his poem.

This year has been a great one,
the last for some of us.
Yet your foresight has seen our plight,
you juniors have, and thus,

You've organized this Banquet
for all of us tonight,
So that Junior class and Senior class can come here and unite.

You're giving us a Banquet,
you're putting us in debt,
We owe you something, juniors,
'cause this night we won't forget.

And we will repay you, juniors, when about four weeks from now,
We pack our bags and leave this place,
and to your class endow

The sacred name of "senior," which we've been proud to wear
But a name we only borrow,
and to which you shall fall heir.

Then take it, juniors, take it,
and carry on the name,
While we go out into the world and seek another fame.

We'll accept this Banquet, juniors,
and feel most justified,
If you'll accept from us a name,
and wear it then with pride.

Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet

Cool night air set the scene for the Southern Rhapsody —theme of Junior-Senior Prom. The banquet was highlighted by the welcoming address of junior class president Russ Armstrong and the acceptance by senior class president David Johnson. The evening's entertainment featured the Dixie Two, Cheryll Schlimmer and Janet Hotelling; a clever skit showing Southern home life by Gery Deaver, Jo Stocker, Jo Gordon, Carol Cook, and Ron Saltzman; and a folk fest which brought the audience into the Southern spirit, led by Steve Ryan, Denise Speck, and Dave Malam. Beautiful decorations depicting a Southern Belle strolling through her shady garden further accented the theme, the band softly played and dancers glided over the floor.

Cedar Falls High's Dramatics Department

The Cedar Falls High School Dramatics department opened its season with "Solid Gold Cadillac," a hilarious story of a little old lady, (ably portrayed by Sally Woods) who, by using common sense and folksiness, brings the colossal General Products Corporation to its knees.

The play's comical farce was a pleasure to behold.

The production utilized three part revolving scenery, the first Cedar Falls High School production to do so.

OR

A Working Girl's Secret

A Comedy Mellow Dramber in Three Acts

BY

Paul Loomis

ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY NIGHTS, FEBRUARY 28, 29, UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF THE DRAMATICS DEPARTMENT OF THE CEDAR FALLS HIGH SCHOOL

Synopsis of Scenes

SMOKING SEGARS PROHIBITED!!

The second presentation of the Cedar Falls High dramatics department was the gay nineties production of Pure As the Driven Snow. This melodrama was centered around Purity Dean, the heroine who was "only a working girl but she was pure through and through." The hero, Leander Longfellow, wins the heart of Purity through his brave and noble deeds but she will not marry him because of her secret which she will not divulge. The plot thickens as the villain, Mortimer Frothingham and the villainess, Imogene Pickens, try to win over the hearts of the hero and heroine. However, they fail with their schemes; Purity's secret is revealed; and all ends well.

As in all melodrama, the audience hissed at the villain and clapped for the hero. Between the three acts, a variety of vaudeville acts kept the audience singing and entertained.

Lower Right: Nellie, the beautiful cloak model, uncovers a mysterious plot in the third act. Mortimer Frothingham comes to his knees.

Using various dream sequences, the author attempts to show man's relationship with his personal plight in life while realizing his very serious and far reaching responsibility to his neighbors and to the entire world. ORGANIZATIONS

Student Forum Governs Student Body

The governing body of Cedar Falls High for the students is the Student Forum. It is a working organization, a sounding board for many of the problems of the school. Members are elected by homerooms and the officers are elected in a school wide election each fall.

This year's Student Forum members participated in the State and District Student Council Conferences and were delegates of the Blackhawk County Conference on Race and Religion. Under the leadership of president David Johnson, the forum offered constructive criticism and helped implement school policies concerning the lunch room. They also helped conduct a Toys for Tots drive, held a Christmas tree trimming and pizza party, and sponsored a sophomore orientation program at the beginning of the year and a freshman orientation at the year's close. Elected president pro-tem, at the end of the year, was John Gnagy who will carry out summer planning for the Forum of 1965.

The organization responsible for keeping the students of Cedar Falls High School informed about current school events is the Tiger Hi-Line. Under the leadership of student editor Dianne Beier, the group published a weekly issue consisting of news, features, editorials and timely photographs on a page in the local newspaper.

Each year the staff organizes and publishes an issue of the Cedar Falls Daily Record, and afterwards are guests of the paper at a banquet. This year's staff was also fortunate to attend a journalism conference at Iowa State University. Experience and hard work have enabled the Hi-Line to become one of the best student publications in the area.

Senior Section, guided by JoAnn Henderson, and classes section, guided by Sue Lund, were responsible for the individual pictures of each student. Headlines, captions, and copy were written by the copy staff headed by Judy Mitze.

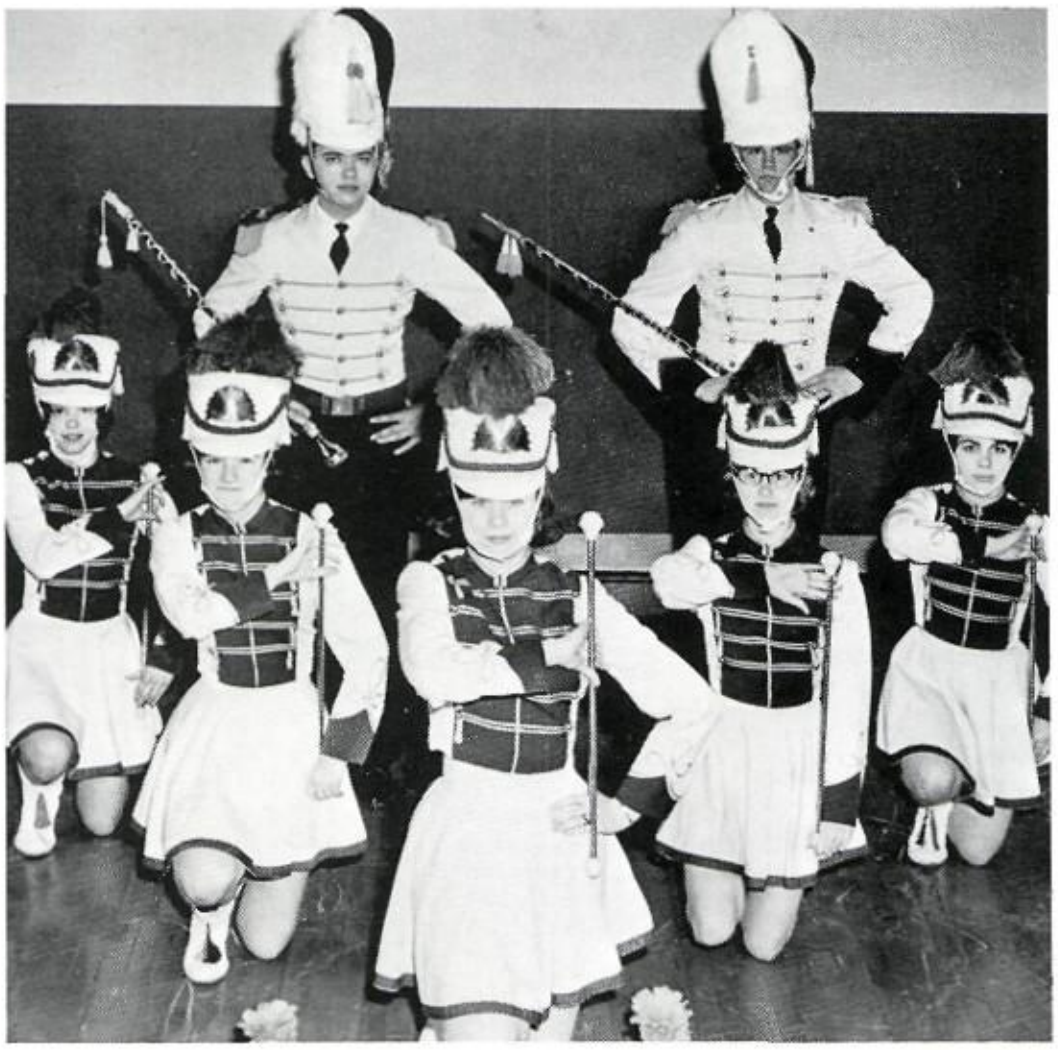
A crashing of symbols and a blare of the trumpet sent a thrill into every heart, as the Cedar Falls High Loyalty was played. The presence of the marching band at games bolstered both fans and athletes during the year. Under the skillful direction of Mr. Anton Lund, the band completed difficult formations at all home football games, and participated in the Drake Band Day, as well as marching in the Memorial Day Parade.

Besides marching, the Cedar Falls band contributed many musical achievements on the concert stage.

in Varied Musical Presentations

Drum Majors: Judy Copeland and Jim Miller.
Majorettes: Diane Colvin, Joan Nielsen, Sandy Mitchell, Sherry King, Diane Hile.



The band had many outstanding individual performers, as well. One of these was Jerry Howe who was selected as a clarinettist in the All-State Band. At the state class-A solo and ensemble music contest, the band soloists and groups were awarded 12 dividison I ratings and 17 division II ratings.

Always an active group, the Band's Booster organization sponsored a pancake day to help pay for band uniforms. As a final social event, a band banquet in May honored all members as a reward for a job well done.

Of the 7 quartets entered in the All-State auditions, 3 were accepted to participate in this state-wide classic. The choral department also broke three records at the State Class A solo and ensemble music contest. A total of 15 Division I ratings were earned, the largest number in ten years. To add to the honor, all the small groups who competed received Division I ratings.

Performances highlighting the year's activities included the A Cappella Choir's television concert, a successful Christmas concert and the production of Antonio Vivaldi's "Gloria."

A highlight of the choir season was their performance on television at Christmas time.

Mixed Chorus Shares Praises in 'Gloria' Performance

The Choir was guest of the Wartburg music festival in which twelve high schools were invited to attend. The Choir also helped Cedar Falls host the Tri-School Music Festival held annually in conjunction with East and West Waterloo High Schools at the Waterloo Hypodrome.

Long hours of practice were amply repaid to all choir members in the experiences they gained, a party after "Gloria," and a spring picnic.

The Glee Club's soloists and small groups helped this group make a major contribution to the Cedar Falls vocal music department.

The Cedar Falls orchestra showed remarkable musicianship and was praised by many educators and professional musicians as it completed its third year. Under the skilled direction of Mrs. Jane Hahn, the orchestra made many successful appearances including a Christmas Concert, an exchange concert with State College High School, and the accompaniment of "Gloria," by Vilvadi, which was performed with the vocal music department. Highlighting the year's schedule was the annual Tri-School Music Festival, where the orchestra was combined with orchestras of East and West Waterloo High Schools to create the most rewarding of musical experiences.

The individual achievement was very rewarding, as orchestra soloists and groups earned one Division I rating and two Division II ratings at the state class A music contest.

Junior Classical League Pursues Latin Studies

To help understand and appraise today's world, indebted to the ancient civilizations of Greece and Rome for its government, language, literature and laws, the Junior Classical League meets to acquaint students with Greek and Roman culture.

With the help of their sponsor, Mrs. Pratt, students publish a state Latin Magazine, the Nuntius at the beginning of the year. Wearing togas at an authentic Roman banquet, members celebrate with a Saturnalia in December. Spring finds the JCL students holding a slave sale and a picnic to initiate freshman members.

JCL members attend the state Latin convention in April where they meet students from all over Iowa. During the summer, members attend the National Latin Convention, held this year at Urbana, Illinois, where they participate in various contests and Olympic games. These varied activities, accompanied by regular monthly meetings, make the Junior Classical League one of Cedar Falls High School's most active organizations.

The American Field Service is the organization through which we have the opportunity to share our culture with students from abroad. This year's foreign exchange student was Carlos Rios from Argentina. Through AFS, Carlos has had the opportunity to see American life and to obtain life-long friendships with members of our high school.

Besides Carlos, there were four other foreign students at our school. These were Supomit Ariwongse (Tick) from Thailand, Anita Cruz from Guam, Lorenzo Valdes from Mexico, and Renalto Balestra from Brazil. These students made important contributions to our school. To all foreign students: we, the students of Cedar Falls High, salute you!

The Speech Club is open to all students who are interested in extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, debate, and ten other areas of public speaking. The Speech Club, which is a National Forensic League chapter, has had outstanding records in all areas of speech competition. Under the direction of Mr. Kemp and with hard work from its members, the Club won trophies at Mason City, Newton, Coe College Invitational, Dubuque, Fort Dodge, and Iowa Forensic League state finals at Iowa City.

The Club enjoyed a hayride and party early in the fall to open the year; followed with an initiation for new members in the spring, and concluded with a picnic and barbecue in June.

Talkers Take Third in State

This year's squad was remarkable for its outstanding individual competitors. John Gnagy won first place in After-dinner speaking at the Coe College Invitational and was elected speaker of the House at the Iowa Forensic League Student Congress. Pam Ritter was a finalist in girls extemporaneous speaking at Midwest and Iowa Forensic League tournaments and placed third at National Forensic League, closely behind teammate, Marianne Hartong, who only narrowly missed a state championship in the event. Terry Knapp bettered all competition at the same contest to place first in boys original oratory and to win a trip to the National Forensic League national finals at Akron, Ohio. Terry was also named Iowa's top debater and ranks with the top ten speakers in the nation.

Thespians Present Both Comedy and Serious Drama

The Cedar Falls chapter of the National Thespian Society, under the able direction of Mr. Picht, has become an important addition to our school. The production of three plays have high-lighted the year with both comedy and serious drama. Besides the presentation of these plays, the drama department, with Mr. Picht's dramatics class, made a trip to the Tyrone Guethre Theater in Minneapolis to see a professional performance of Shakespeare's Henry VII. Thespian members also combined with students interested in vocal music on a trip to see Cedar Rapids Jefferson High's production of Showboat. The excursion was further enhanced on the return trip when a fan belt broke on one of the two busses necessitating all 75 students to return on a single bus.

The most enjoyable part of the school year for Thespian members is the initiation of students who have earned enough points to join the National organization. After a week of grueling initiation, the new Thespians are made official members of the National Thespian Society.

Library Club Members Gain Valuable Experience

The student librarians this year have been a bridge between the students and the librarians, Miss Bailey and Mrs. Waddle. Performing various tasks as keeping charge of the desk, processing new books, filing catalogue cards, straightening the library, and typing. These club members made themselves all but indispensable. With these jobs being done by the student librarians, Miss Bailey and Mrs. Waddle had more time to acquaint the students with our new library facilities and the learning center.

Along with the daily duties, the student librarians held bimonthly meetings where general business was discussed and lectures were given on various subjects concerning the library. The club also had two pizza parties as well as their annual picnic for Miss Bailey, who is traveling to England this summer.

Future Nurses, Camera Club Provide Experience

The Future Nurses Club of CF is for those students who are interested in the career of nursing. Through club activities the students become acquainted with the medical profession and its related fields. The Future Nurses took one trip this year, it was one that will long be remembered by the members. The trip was to Des Moines and included a visit to the Iowa Methodist Hospital and its school of Nursing. One of the hospital administrators talked to the group on nursing facilities had at the hospital and school. An extra-special project of the club is working at Sartori Memorial Hospital in Cedar Falls each Tuesday evening. Members of the club tend the gift bar and give passes to visitors.

The Camera Club entered new horizons as it began the new year. Sponsoring a photo contest of Homecoming activities, field trips to Waterloo Police Department and professional photographic laboratories, the Club also supplies valuable services to its members by rendering use of its darkroom, and selling bulk 35mm film. Club members also saw Kodak slide and film presentations as well as the winning photographs in Kodak's National High School Photo Contest.

DECA Students Prepare Careers

Distributive Education is designed to prepare a student for a successful career in a distributive occupation. Under the direction of Mr. Blow, Distributive Education combines both business and social activities. Through this program, students attend school in the morning and then have training in a retail or service business under the supervision of their employer in the afternoon. The Distributive Education students also receive classroom instruction that enables the trainees to further their knowledge and progress on their job.

Besides cadet teaching, the Future Teachers schedule speakers to give insight to various exciting branches of teaching such as teaching in foreign countries and special education of retarded children.

The highlight of the Club's year was a program night when cadets told of the trials, tribulations and hilarious situations that occurred in their classes. Members of the cadet teaching program included: Lynn Greenly, Bill Trowbridge, Marianne Hartong, Diana Friis, Connie Cyal, Linda Fox, Janet Blough, Jan Stegmann, Becky Olson, and Terry Knapp.

MATH CLUB

The Cedar Falls Math Club is an organization for those students who are interested in and have excelled in mathematics. Under the direction of Mr. Darling and Mr. Eason, they have had two projects for the year. The first of these is the ordering of Russian Math books for study in the club. The club learned the elementary alphabet and the Russian number system. The second project was the study of computers. Besides doing research on these machines, they took a field trip to John Deere Tractor works to watch their computers in operation.

Members also heard many interesting lectures and were encouraged to complete individual engineering projects at regular bi-monthly meetings. By offering a diverse interesting program to its members into careers in engineering.

Pep Club Promotes School Spirit

One of the largest groups at Cedar Falls is the PEP CLUB. It has a primary aim to promote school spirit and to liven pep assemblies with various skits, yells, and songs. Many times during the year, red blazers lighted the spirit as did the colorful posters in the halls. Also the Pep Club sponsored a drive to sell Cedar Falls High penants to raise money. The campaign was so successful that the Club has additional funds for next year.

The highlight of the Pep Club year was the record number of buses traveling to the Mason City football game. This feat of acquiring eight buses was moment that many students will long remember.

in Wide Variety of Activities

GRA, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Lubbs, has sponsored many activities throughout the school year for its members. Included in the long list are numerous pot-luck suppers, intermural badminton, volleyball, canoeing, an all-night bowling party, and interscholastic track and fencing meets. The most popular event, however, was basketball. The highlight of GRA's year was the traditional Army-Navy Basketball game, during which the boys served as cheerleaders and gave loyal support to their favorite girls team.

The goal for all GRA members is earning a letter or pin offered by the organization for excellence in girls athletics. By participating in all these events, girls earn points toward the achievement of this award.

Besides cheering, the girls had a car wash and sold homecoming mums to help finance the huge Tiger Banner which is proudly displayed as a permanent symbol in our gym.

The cheerleaders worked especially hard on new cheers which they learned at a summer cheerleading camp, and which soon became favorites with the student body. The entire student body voices a hearty thanks to the cheerleaders for the superior job they have done.

If a tall, handsome athlete hands you your program at an athletic event, he is likely to be a member of C.F.'s Letterman Club. These athletes lettered in football, wrestling, cross country, track, basketball, baseball, and golf. Besides ushering, our lettermen also ran the refreshment stand at football games. The proceeds from these activities went towards the purchasing of a whirlpool as a lasting contribution of this year's club.

Two major events of this year's club were their initiations and their picnic. Three initiations were held for those who had just earned their letters and all were grueling trials of the initiates. The picnic was held in the early spring and was highlighted by a baseball game which was played in six innings and was won by the faculty, 14 to 6.

Determined Tigers Face Opponents

"Walk right in, sit right down, baby let your hair hang down . . ." So began the first pep assembly of the year, the pep assembly that utimately resulted in a winning football season and state rankings for Cedar Falls.

Every seat was taken. As the pep band played the loyalty song, there was an electricity that raced through every member of the student body. The "West Won't Win" campaign of the Lettermen's Club had filled the students with wondering expectations concerning our arch rival, West Waterloo. The pep assembly told the world that Cedar Falls could win. But only the guts and determination of 50 men driving together could prove it. And prove it they did! For not only did Cedar Falls whip West, but seven well filled pep buses made the trip to see Cedar Falls topple Charles City and eight buses followed the Tigers to wrap up the season by beating Mason City.

The team ended the season with a 7-1 record and Cedar Falls' best showing since entering the Big Six Conference.

This year's football season was a high point in the history of athletics at Cedar Falls. Finishing second in the Big Six and eighth in the state, the Tigers posed a formidable opposition to all foe.

Offensively, a heavy Cedar Falls line headed by the likes of Harold Strever and Terry Carlton opened large holes in the toughest defense to enable the Tiger backfield to average over four touchdowns per game. In the game against Fort Dodge, for example, Chuck Lynch averaged a gain of 8.5 yards per carry with twenty-one carries. At home against Waverly, Dan Rubendall scored both touchdowns to wrap up a series of six straight wins.

Defensively, the Tigers allowed an average of less than two touchdowns per game. One reason was Don Boxwell who figured in thirteen tackles against New Hampton to earn United Press International's "Lineman of the Week" award. Team captain Dan Rubendall was a defensive as well as offensive standout; his tough tackling helped him win a berth on the All-State team.

Behind the excellent team performance was the outstanding coaching staff headed by Coach Lyons. Guiding the team's best efforts, Coaches Lyons, Boals, and Young, deserve credit for molding success into Tiger football, 1963.

Sophomores Train for Varsity Competition

Tiger Roundballers Gain Poise and Experience

Cedar Falls Tigers dribbled and shot their way through an eight win, ten loss season as the Tigers completed their best season since 1958. Downing Waverly-Shell Rock and Colombus High twice, the Tigers also whipped New Hampton, East Des Moines and Fort Dodge. Reliable shooting by sophomore Skip Anderson (average points per game: 14.5) and Richard James (average points per game: 12.8) and the leadership of floor leader Don Boxwell were largely responsible for the success of the season. A strong bench also helped with Lynn King, Bo Blake, Terry Imhoff, and Charles Lakin all seeing considerable amount of action.

Torrid shooting by Don Boxwell helped net the Tigers a 62-59 victory over Waverly. In the contest, Boxwell accounted for 24 points as he slipped through eighteen free throws. Against Big Six Champion, West Waterloo, Boxwell scored 20 points and King scored 15, despite the fact he played only the second half. In rugged district competition, Gary Deaver credited the Tigers with 14 points as Cedar Falls nipped Oelwein 61-60.

Tigers Score 90-75 Upset Over Fort

Without a doubt the best game of the season was against Fort Dodge. In that contest the Tigers were led by the precise shooting of Rich James, who sank 34 points, and Skip Anderson, who netted 33 points in route to a 90-75 upset. The Dodgers pulled to a quick 5-1 lead in the opening minutes but James tied it at 5-5 and Boxwell put the Tigers ahead to stay with a 20 foot jump shot. The first quarter ended with the Tigers leading 19-15. The Dodgers closed the gap to 21-20 early in the second quarter but the able shooting of James, (who hit 10 consecutive field goals), and Anderson, (who pumped in 16 consecutive free throws), gave Cedar Falls a 48-33 half time lead and a 17 point third quarter margin.

Jubilant, Coach Anderson assessed the upset "By far our best game. We out hussled 'em and beat 'em off the boards." The game was indicative of the caliber of basketball that gave Cedar Falls its best record in six years.

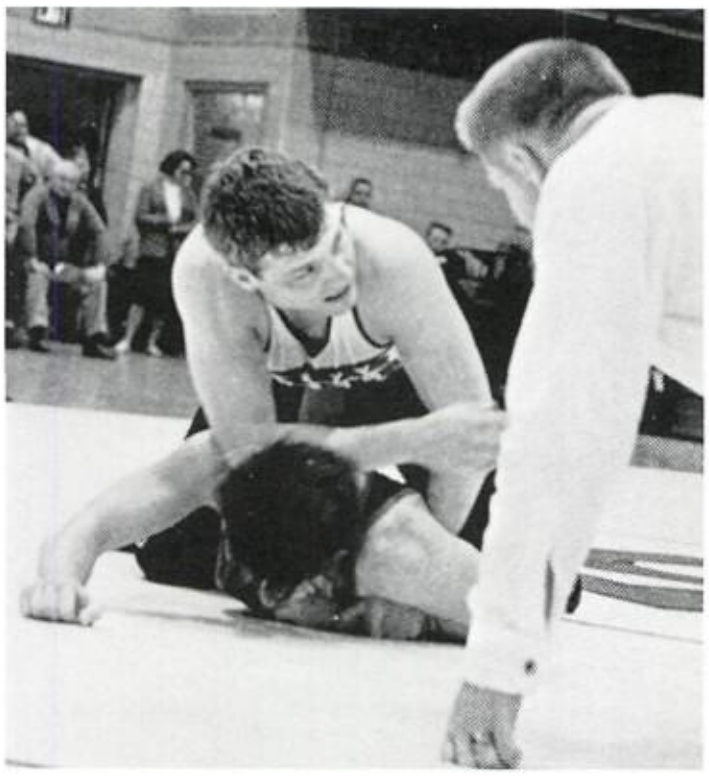
Tiger Wrestlers Improve Throughout Season



The Tiger's wrestling season started out with victories over East Des Moines and Charles City. But injuries took their toll and the Tigers fell into a five-meet losing streak in the middle of the season. Losing to Osage, Mason City, East Waterloo, Algona, Fort Dodge and a heartbreaker to Mason City, the Cedar Falls matmen, nevertheless, gained valuable experience and poise. They attacked their remaining meets with renewed strength and won four in a row, over Maquoketa, Waverly, Iowa Falls, and New Hampton, to finish the season with a respectable 6 win, 6 loss record.

Jim Juhl was the team's highest scorer, with 34 team points, but was followed closely by Chuck Lynch (who was undefeated in the regular season), with 31 points.

Always a credit to any team, Coach Young earned the lasting respect of every student when he was elected to the Wrestlers Hall of Fame for his outstanding college wrestling record.

Tigers 6-6 Dual Meet Record

December 10, 1963, the Cedar Falls Tigers met Charles City at Cedar Falls. The air was full of feverish excitement. But the meet started slowly. In the first seven matches only Jim Ayres and Sam Runyan were able to earn C.F. victories. Just before Doug Dane wrestled at 154 pounds, the score was 8-21 in favor of the Comets. The pressure was on. Larry Hudson drew with his opponent; Doug Dane decisioned his, as did Larry Brown. Chuck Lynch pinned his man in only 57 seconds, and the meet came within reach of the Tigers for the first time. But only Jim Juhl at heavyweight could win it. He did so by whipping his opponent 4-0 for a hard fought 22-21 victory over Charles City.

This spring, as usual, CF track team set an outstanding record. Of the four scored indoor meets in which the team competed, it brought home four 1st place ratings. Indoor records broken were by Dave Johnson in the low and high hurdles; Don Boxwell in the pole vault, and Charles Lakin, Bo Blake, Terry Imhoff, and Mick Starcevich in the 16-lap relay.

The season's record of outdoor track was also impressive. Of the seven record meets the Tiger squad placed 1st in four of them and 2nd in three. CF also won the Big 6 championship for the third year in a row and the district championship records were broken in 5 events in outdoor track. These were by Terry Imhoff in the 880 in 2:00.2; Dave Johnson in the high hurdles in :14.8 and in the low hurdles in :20.1; Lynn King in the broad jump at 20'8". Don Boxwell and Larry Hudson in the pole vault at 12'6" and the 2-mile relay team of Lakin, Blake, Imhoff, and Starcevich in 8:12.1.

Lower Right: After winning a terrific quarter mile sprint, Virgil Murray wins happiest congratulations of teammates.

The golf squad suffered from a slow mid season this year, but nevertheless managed a highly respectable third place finish at the Big Six golf tournament. The team's first outing resulting in a 16 shot shellacking of East Waterloo and which was followed by a highly competitive one stroke loss to Waverly. Susie Thorson, first girl on the golf team in many years shot very well and was runner up in state girls tournament. Coach Nichols points out that the squad is losing only two senior letter winners this year, and prospects are for a highly successful season next year.

Administration Supervises Curriculum

Another year of academic progress, curricular and extracurricular activities has passed. This progress and our new addition has been exposed to public evaluation from near and far. Our administration is dedicated to the school and faithful in the execution of their duties. This is as much of an asset as those former graduates who gain success and give credit where credit is due.

The board of education members are all chosen through city election. Although their faces may be unfamiliar to students at CF, their powers and influences are constantly affecting curriculum. They give quality leadership.

The transition between general science courses offered to Freshmen and the varied science courses offered in high school offer a large degree of specialization and experimentation. To meet the rapid scientific advances of our times, CF High offers biology, chemistry, and physics with advanced BSCS Biology, CHEM-Study Chemistry and PSSC Physics available to certain students. The programs encourage experimentation and individual projects. They offer modern laboratory equipment for the exploration of mysteries unbeknown to all.

Although mathematics is a field in itself, it is deeply tied in with the other sciences. To help develop skills in mathematics CF High offers varied mathematics classes including SMSG Geometry, algebra and math, and business math courses.

Sometimes fun, sometimes routine, sometimes exciting, but always present for students from grades one through eleven is English. For the brave, and maybe the wise, additional elective courses were added to this curriculum: journalism, great books, and creative writing joined previous electives in senior English.

The keynotes this year were specialization and opportunity. Specialization in teaching through team teaching plus additional opportunities for students via new texts, greater use of paperbacks, added materials from the learning center, and new visual aids.

Language Arts Enriches Communication Skills

Mr. Rallihan begins a semester economics class with a discussion on capital.

The social studies curriculum is aimed at familiarizing every student with his American heritage, the place of America in the world, and the internal problems of America, both economic and social. In four year program, the student is encouraged to research, to present materials to large groups, and to take part in political activity, among many other experiences. The study strives to develop competent leaders for our modern society.

With one out of every eight people gainfully employed in some form of selling, and with the percentage increasing, it is necessary for the high school to include a complete business course in its curriculum. To meet modern demands for qualified business students, Cedar Falls High offers a wide range of business courses: shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, business law, salesmanship, office and secretarial practice, distributive education, business organization, and a note taking course for the college bound student.

These courses help prepare students to become more intelligent consumers as they become America's buying and selling public.

Train Students for Vocational Future

Other facets of Cedar Falls Highs' vocational program include an extensive shop program including woodworking, two courses in metal working, auto mechanics, shop electronics, three courses in mechanical drafting, and trade and industry classes.

Also in the vocational program are a four year home economics program which stresses making clothes, child care, cooking, home management and social development.

The two extremes in the curriculum of Cedar Falls High add enjoyment and satisfaction to many. The development of fine musical and physical education programs seek to develop the balanced individual.

The musical department's many activities include a marching band, two concert bands, pep band, and contest groups, besides an orchestra, a girls glee club, a chorus and an A Cappella choir. These groups add a cultural touch for the enjoyment of many and rank among the best in the fine arts.

Languages and Art Expand Cultural Interest

The language department offers three foreign languages, Latin, Spanish, both of which are four-year programs; and, starting this year, French, which will also grow into a four year course. These studies increase understanding of other cultures as well as strengthen students' fundamental grammar usage.

The development of artistic communication is also the goal of the art, speech, and journalism departments. The fine acceptance of the Tiger Hi-Line, and the high ratings earned by Cedar Falls speakers at speech tournaments are testimony to successes in these areas..

Senior Picnic Successful

May 29, 1964, was a big day in the life of Cedar Falls High School seniors. For at 12:00 noon on that day, 219 graduating seniors streamed from the school for the last time, and headed for Robinson Crusoe Park in Waterloo. After substantial nourishment, volleyball and softball games sped the hours into dusk. Only a few remained for a hootenanny late in the afternoon. But as the last strains of "Gypsy Rover" faded into the cool night air, everyone knew that there was no question about it. School was over.

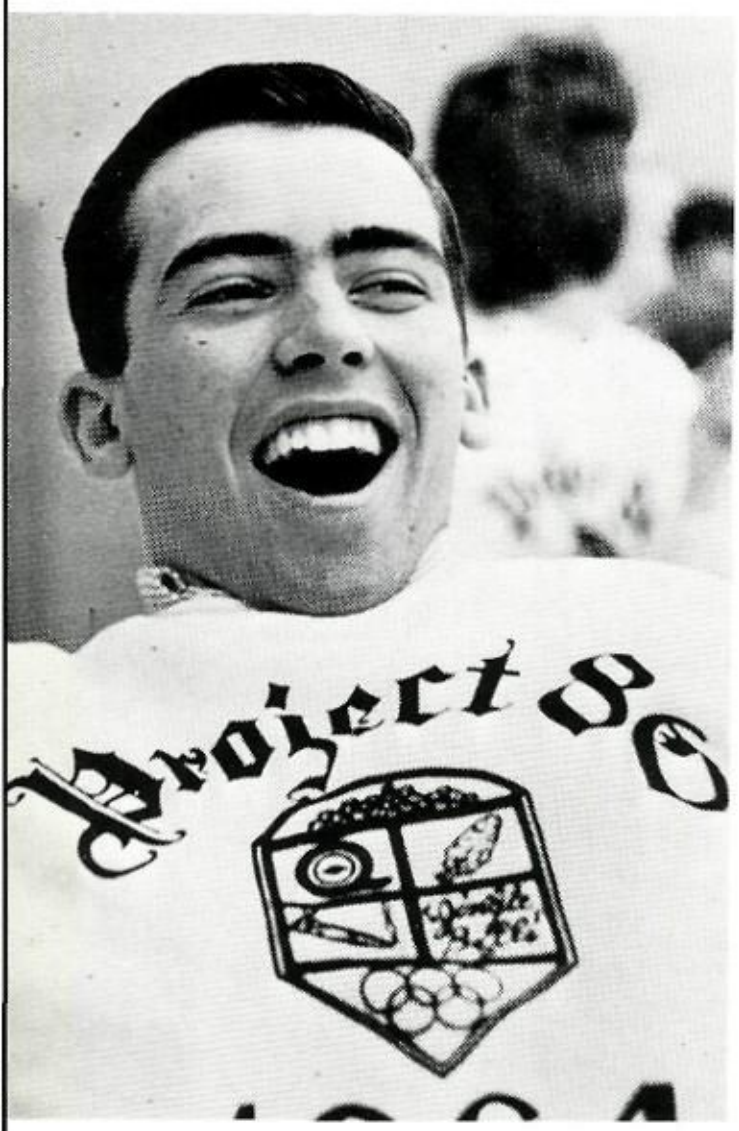
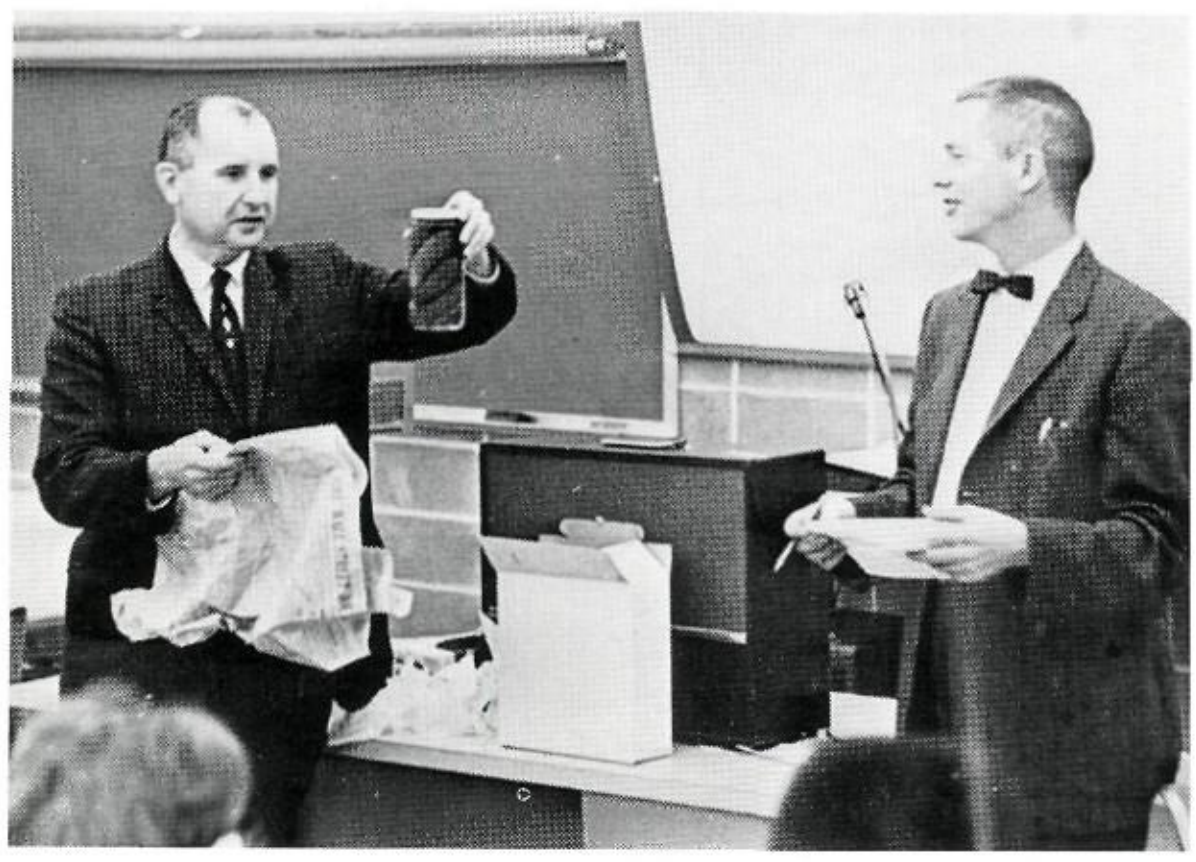
Lower Right: The delightful aroma of barbequed hot dogs fills the air as the picnic gets under way.

Team Teaching Provides





To facilitate the best education for the greatest number of students, the Board of Education has embarked on a program of team teaching. Using extremely large classes of seventy and very small seminar discussion groups of ten, the team approach strives to give the benefits of good lectures to as many possible and yet retain the "roundtable" discussion. Although originally designed for just senior English and social studies, the team program this year spread to PSSC physics and junior English.

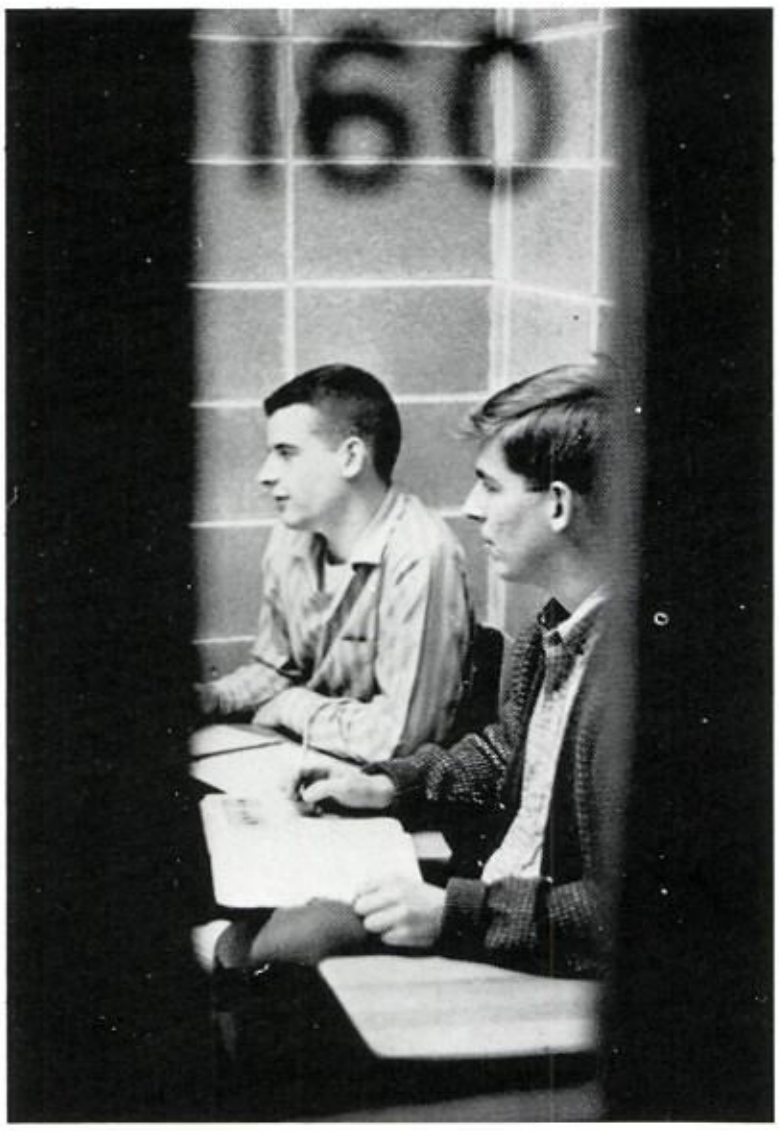
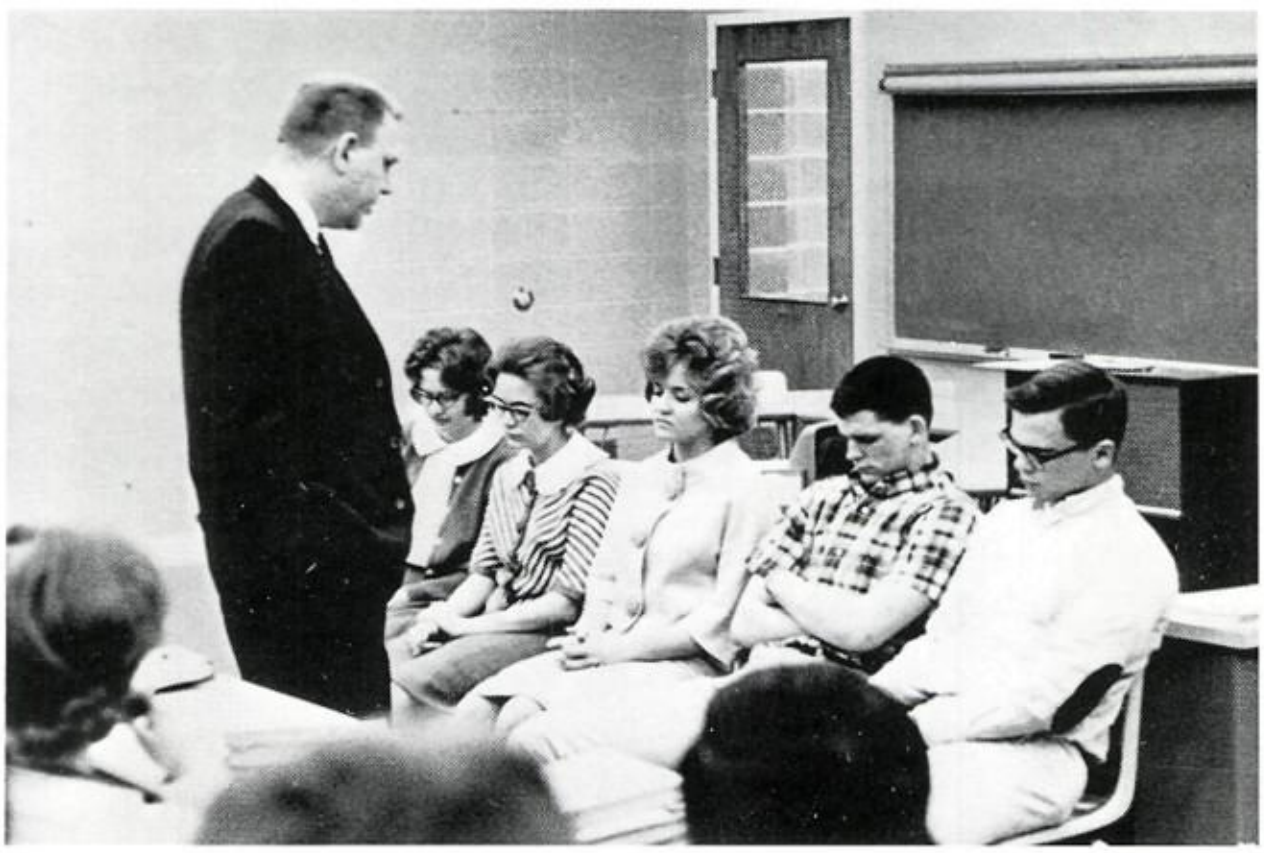
Stimulating Rewards





Upper Left: Dave Eblen and Mark Damsgarrd enjoy the benefits of a small group discussion in one of six rooms especially designed for that purpose.

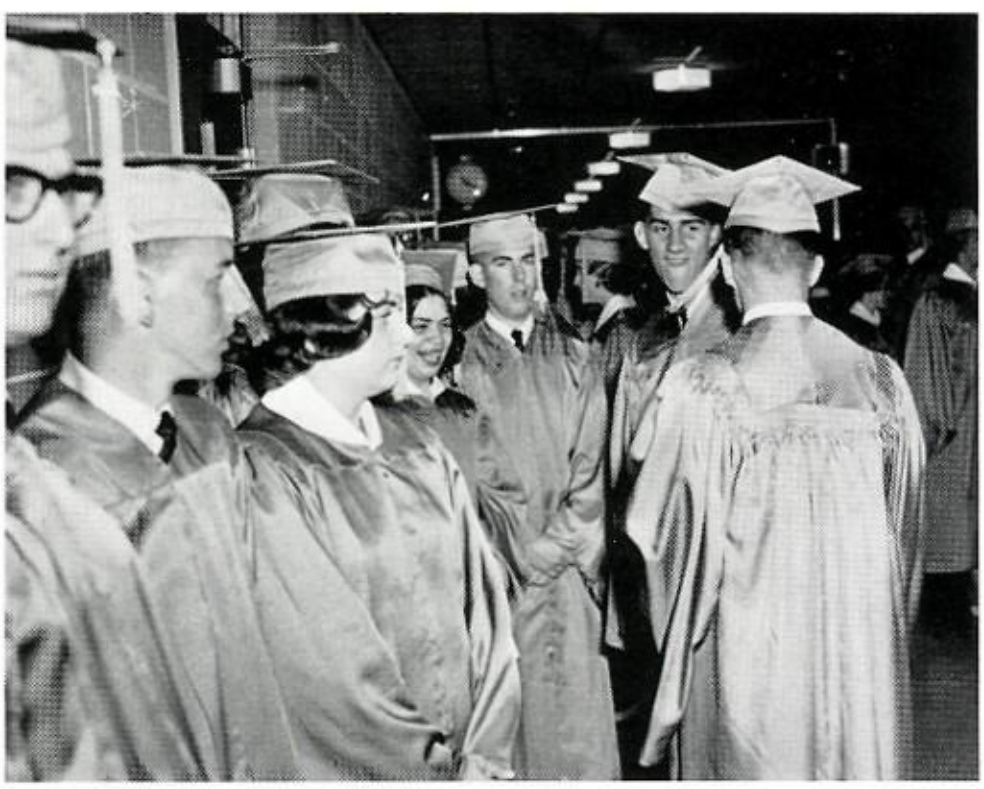
Upper Right: Mr. Kemp calls class to order the last class period before Christmas holiday. Student decorations include Christmas tree covered with term paper note cards.

Left: Dr. Voorland, a local chiropractor, attempts to hypnotize five Project 80 students. He was highly successful!

Baccalaureate and Graduation Complete 12

The first official step in graduation is the Baccalaureate Service held in the gym the Sunday preceding Commencement. Excitedly, the seniors marched pompously into the gym to the organ music of Mrs. Madsen, and after the opening prayer and the scripture, they heard the sermon by Reverend Wayne Gordon entitled "Beatitudes of the Graduate." He told the seniors that they were standing at the threshold of life and that they must love life, love the rules of life, and love fellow men. The sermon was followed by "Exsulate Jubilate,'" sung by Diane Alford accompanied by Sue Boileau.

As the seniors marched out, they were filled with mixed emotions ranging from humbleness to relief at having finished the first step toward graduation.



Upper Right: Gary Deaver and Russel Armstrong, right, lead the long procession of seniors down the halls toward the gymnasium to Baccalaureate.

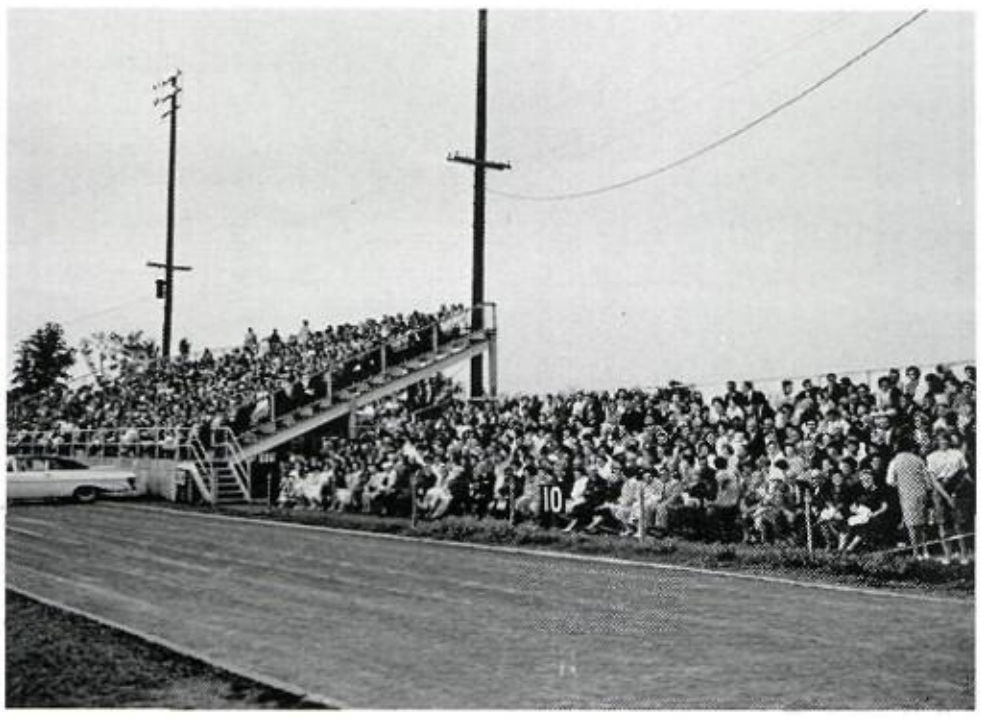
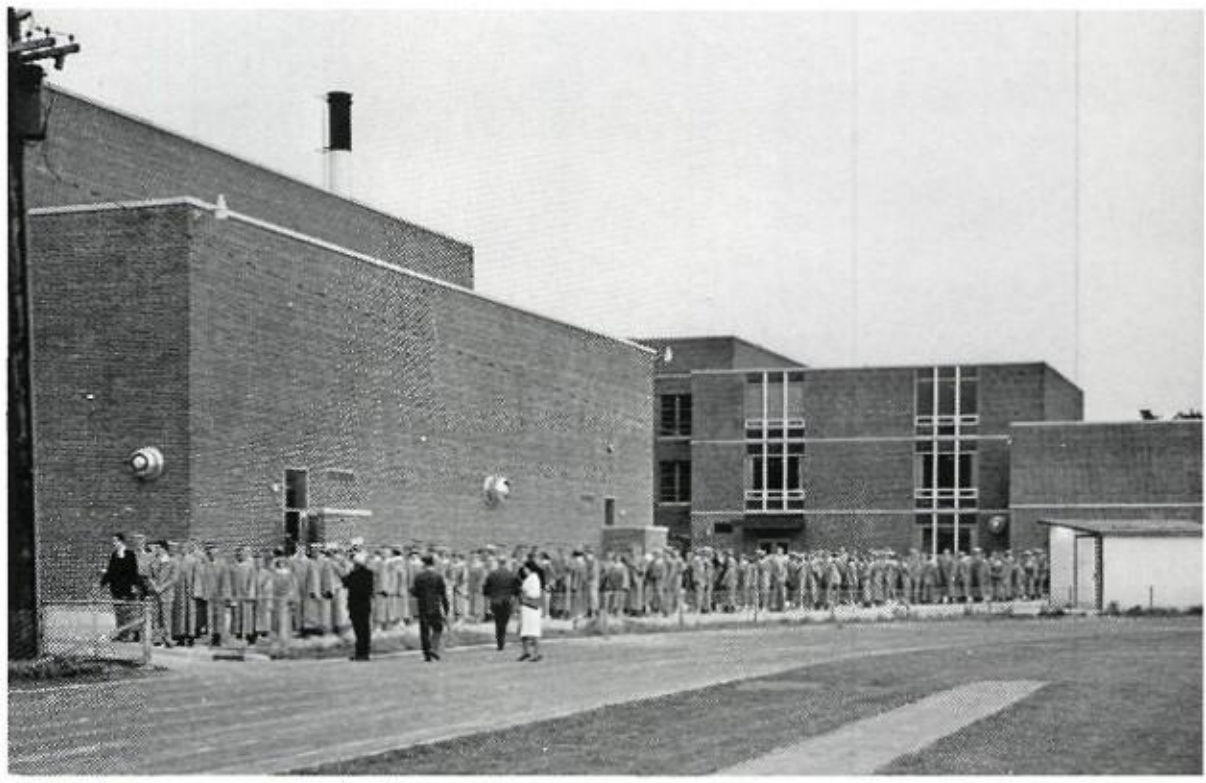
Years of Formal Education for Seniors



The decorations of red and white blew quietly in the breezes as the seniors processed onto the field to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance." As the seniors looked among their classmates, they saw familiar faces, some they had known since their first years of school. Soon they would separate, each member to go his own way. Some students were looking forward to more schooling, others cherished the soon to be fulfilled dream of being completely on their own.

As the speaker, June Parker Goldman, addressed the blue clad group on their dreams and hopes at "The Top of the Castle," thoughts reflected over the past year. Graduation brought the final link in the senior's high school education but it also brought a close to a year of thoughts and actions combined to form memories of time well spent and promises of a brighter future.



Upper Left: A capacity crowd, estimated at 4,000, attentively listens to Mrs. June Goldman.

Epilogue

This, then, is our record of what we did in our high school in Cedar Falls, Iowa. But what about the world outside Cedar Falls?

President Kennedy was shot and killed in a motorcade through Dallas, Texas, in the most tragic murder in history. (How can anyone forget Mr. Stannard's voice as he announced the assassination over the school intercom, or the ensuing two hours of repetitious radio network news explaining how it happened; how we failed.) How can anyone forget the muffled drums and the caisson slowly rolling down Pennsylvania Avenue on that tear filled day. How can anyone forget . . .

Elsewhere, we were fighting a war in South Viet Nam; the Panamanians rioted in protest to U.S. "aggression" in the Canal Zone; Castro was almost daily haranguing the United States for its aero surveillance of his Cuba. We signed a limited nuclear test ban treaty and a tax cut. The worst earthquake in history devastated Alaska. Barry Goldwater was casing the country for votes for the Republican Presidential nomination.

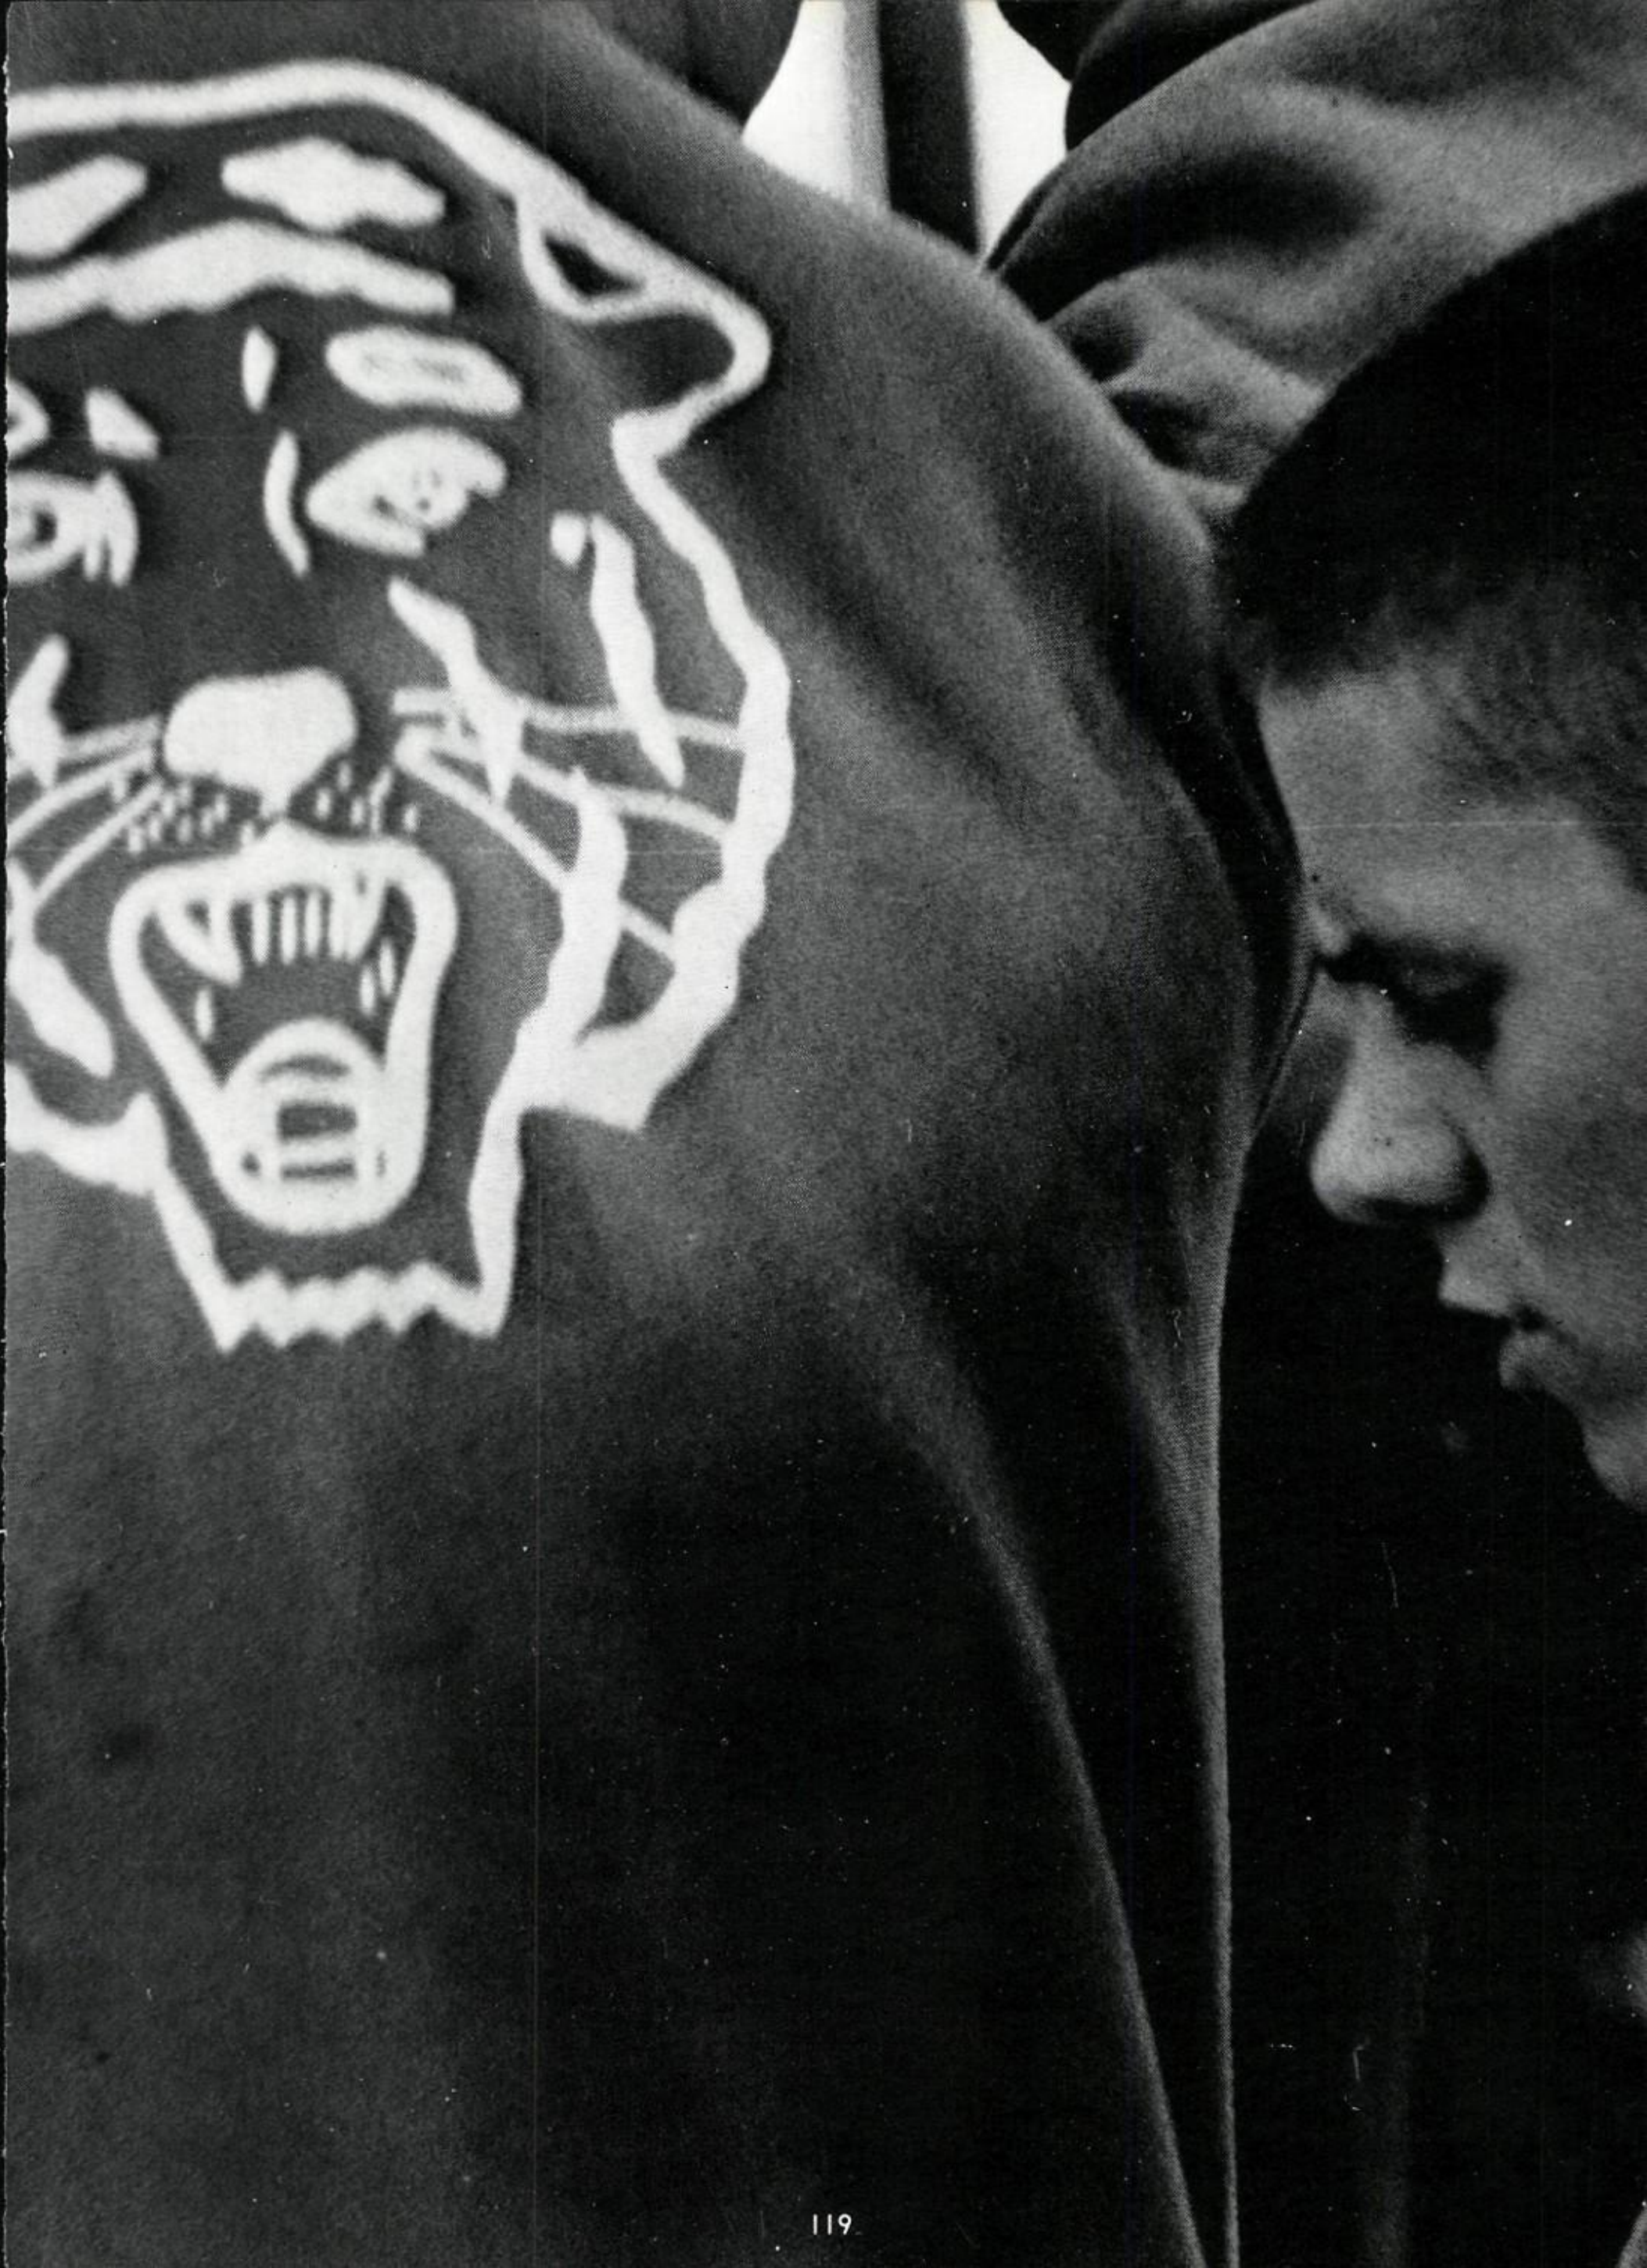
Our social life was full. We saw popular movies like Tom Jones (which won the Academy Award for best picture), and Cleopatra (which involved an international romance between Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton and which resulted in their marriage. We listened to (and almost worshipped) a singing group called the Beatles which invaded our shores from London. So successful was their invasion, in fact, that they captured first place on the Nifty Top Fifty every single week from January 25 to May 19 with such songs as "I Wanna Hold Your Hand," and "She Loves You Yea, Yea." And for real entertainment, the New York World's Fair opened its international spectacle.

Sportswise, the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the New York Yankees in just four games in the 1963 World Series; Cassius "I'm the Greatest" Clay upset World Champion Sonny Liston in six rounds.

1963-64 school year was a confused year. The United States had never been so prosperous. Employment, automobile production, Gross National Product ad infinitum all reached all time highs. And while the United States Senate was trying to muster enough votes to shut off a Southern filibuster on the Civil Rights Bill. we high school students were in the middle of a nation-wide folk song craze, singing "We Shall Overcome," "Blowin' in the Wind," and "We Shall Not Be Moved."

1963-64 school year was a good year. Remember?



Hi!

Well, here it is 1964 and this year we really added to our "member" list. We did some really goofy things but in spite of the fact that we're all a bunch of nuts(?) I still love us (me too!) I guess Denny and his friends added the most to this years friends and fun. (Boy that sounds funny) ← (I hope he keeps up the good work.) But now that I think about it we had a lot of fun before him. 'Member Dick and Steve (chuckle, don't hit.) (TEE HEE) and good old friend Dave (pink) (I guess he's a real guy really) And then came Georgia's wedding and that managed to change a few lives. (chuckle) Good old Larry; his got a real problem! He and Gary sure were plastered that day and Dave was mad 'cause we told Tom all that stuff! Wow, that was fun!!!!! I'm still enjoying the after effects of that wedding. (TEE HEE)

Remember your birthday party when we met those guys from Independance (* I don't know how to spell it!) That Dave guy should have been in the hospital there.. (TEE HEE) Then when we went out with them; boy was that different! At least you had fun!!!! (don't hit!)

Another thing to remember is Diane and all her problems with Denny. That managed to add to the problems of the world. (Actually at this point I should mention President Kennedys death but if your interested see page 118!) (OH WELL)

And of course, we can't forget our adventures on 4th st. which, if all told, could add a few pages.

Remember Goldsberry (both of them) and the talks we'd have with him about religion and Negroes and what not! And that night he took us down to the rendezing works and the way Pat had the arguement with Bruce about Negroes rights!

tpc TAYLOR PUBLISHING COMPANY
"The World's Best Yearbooks Are Taylor-made"

I wonder if Roger will ever be the same! He's sort of mixed up.

Remember that night when you were going with Dick! We snuck over to his dorm window to talk to him and ended up running away 'cause of a slight audience up stairs. And 'member the time you and Pat had that "stuff" at Sherriffs and almost had an accident a couple dozen times!! And remember that slumber party I had when we walked or dance the whole night! That walk up to the cemetery was a riot and when I tried to walk on the fence and fell off, I thought you guys (and me too) were going to die laughing; That was when I stepped on that nail!

And also, remember Prom! We spent so much time getting ready! I cry everytime I think of those pictures Dads mom and dad took of us! And remember the big discussion we had about my roses. My mom was so worried and shook!

Yep! This has been, in general, a pretty interesting year what with Team Teaching; Dick, Steve, and Dave; Denny and Diane; Larry and Gary and Nan Gerry! What melt!...!

Be good in the next year but still have fun which eliminates the first part of this sentence. (Ran out of Ink) "See Ya in the funnies" as a good friend of my would say! Keep (sefty) nice!

(See Ya after you finish being grounded for this)

Love Ya a whole bunch

Mary

Paulette –

Honestly! I hardly ever see ya in school anymore. Now we can't have our nutty conversations anymore. Boo-Hoo!! Ya know what? We've got to get that football game going this year. Will that be a riot if it goes through! You sure are a swell kid with smiles for everyone. Hope our senior year brings us some more fun and laughs. Good luck in all you may do.
